

LGBTQ Pride Month

June 2019

(Image of the colors of the LGBTQ flag)

Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender and Questioning (LGBTQ) Pride Month recognizes the contributions that generations of LGBTQ individuals have made to American history, society and culture. The month of June was chosen to commemorate the 1969 Stonewall Inn Riots. In the 1960s, New York City police regularly raided gay bars. Early on the morning of Saturday, 28 June 1969, the police raided the Stonewall Inn, a gay bar in New York City. Upset over their treatment, a riot broke out involving gay and lesbian individuals who were being questioned by the police. Protests over their treatment spread over the course of several nights.

The commemoration of LGBTQ Pride Month began in November of 1969, when Craig Rodwell, his partner Fred Sargeant, Ellen Broidy, and Linda Rhodes proposed the First Pride March, a demonstration to be held annually on the last Saturday in June in New York City. Initially, the last Sunday in June was celebrated as “Gay Pride Day.” In major cities across the nation, the “day” soon grew to encompass a month-long series of events involving parades, picnics, parties, workshops, symposia and concerts.

The month has been recognized since 1970, one year after the Stonewall Rebellion commemorating the impact the riots had on society. Still now, people in towns and cities across the Nation come together to show support for LGBTQ rights, culture and communities throughout the month of June.

As well as being a month long celebration, Pride month is also an opportunity to peacefully protest and raise political awareness of current issues facing the LGBTQ+ community. Parades are a prominent feature of Pride month, and there are many street parties, community events, poetry readings, public speaking, street festivals and educational sessions all of which are covered by mainstream media and attracting millions of participants.

The Capital Pride Alliance, located in Washington, DC, is a nonprofit organization dedicated to serving the needs of the LGBTQ community and its partners through educational events, entertainment, community outreach, and celebrations of diversity throughout the year. Capital Pride Alliance announced its 2019 Pride theme – “shhhOUT Past, Present & Proud.”

(Displayed on Image the words Pride 2019)

(Image of DVD Cover, "Before Stonewall")

June 25, 2019, 10:00 a.m.

Commission Meeting Room

On June 27, 1969, police raided The Stonewall Inn, a gay bar in New York City's Greenwich Village. In a spontaneous show of support and frustration, the city's gay community rioted for three nights in the streets, an event that is considered the birth of the modern Gay Rights Movement. The award winning film Before Stonewall pries open the closet door, setting free the dramatic story of the sometimes horrifying public and private existences experienced by gay and lesbian Americans since the 1920s. Revealing and often humorous, this widely acclaimed film relives the emotionally-charged sparking of today's gay rights movement, from the events that led to the fevered 1969 riots to many other milestones in the brave fight for acceptance. Experience the fascinating and unforgettable, decade-by-decade history of homosexuality in America through eye-opening historical footage and

Join the Office of Workplace Diversity (OWD)
In Observance of LGBTQ Pride Month
For the viewing of
"Before Stonewall"

For the following:

LGBTQ Pride Month Observance Activities

(Image of the colors of the LGBTQ flag)

June 5, 2019 – Hear profound remarks from Sheila Alexander-Reid, Director, DC Mayor's Office of Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender and Questioning (LGBTQ) Affairs at 11:00 a.m. in the Commission Meeting Room.

(Image is photograph of Sheila Alexander-Reid)

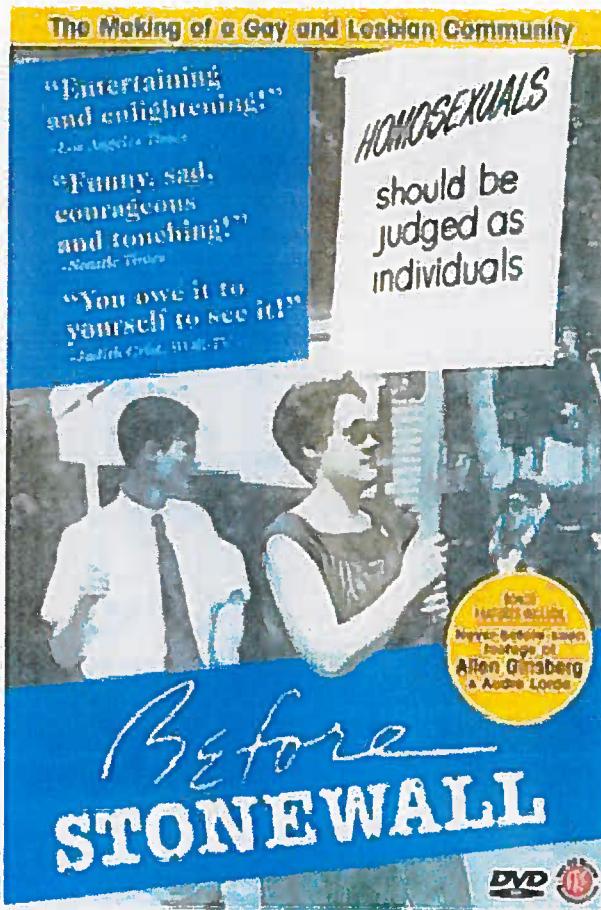

Sheila is a community activist in the truest sense of the word. Her work to shed light on issues affecting the voiceless among us cuts across every line that could divide us; gender, race, socio-economic status, education level and sexual orientation. She was formerly, the Director of Strategic Engagement at the Washington City Paper, Vice President of Strategic Initiatives at the Washington Blade, founder and former Executive Director of the Women in the Life Association, as well as host of Inside Out, DC's only FM, LGBTQ, radio show which aired Tuesdays on WPFW (89.3 FM).

In addition, Sheila formerly served as the Vice-President of the Gertrude Stein Democratic Club, and represented Stein on the DC Democratic State Committee. Sheila has championed causes for young people, women of color, the LGBT community and survivors of domestic violence.

(Displayed on Image Mayor's Office of LGBTQ Affairs" DC government Logo)

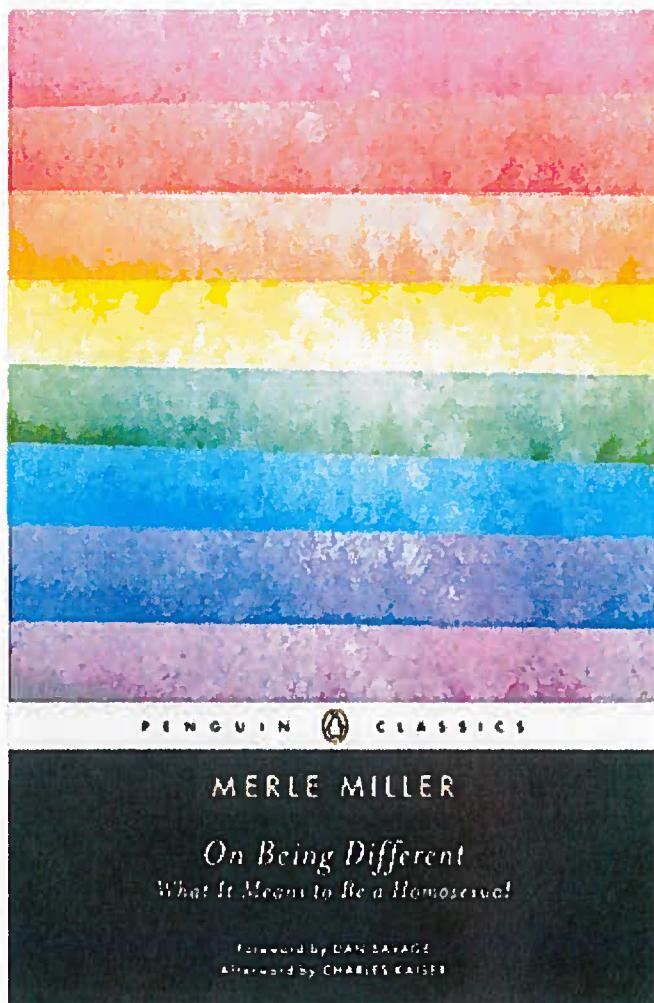

(Image of DVD Cover, "Before Stonewall")

June 25, 2019 - The viewing of "Before Stonewall" at 10:00 a.m. in the Commission Meeting Room.

Synopsis: On June 27, 1969, police raided The Stonewall Inn, a gay bar in New York City's Greenwich Village. In a spontaneous show of support and frustration, the city's gay community rioted for three nights in the streets, an event that is considered the birth of the modern Gay Rights Movement. The award winning film Before Stonewall pries open the closet door, setting free the dramatic story of the sometimes horrifying public and private existences experienced by gay and lesbian Americans since the 1920s. Revealing and often humorous, this widely acclaimed film relives the emotionally-charged sparking of today's gay rights movement, from the events that led to the fevered 1969 riots to many other milestones in the brave fight for acceptance. Experience the fascinating and unforgettable, decade-by-decade history of homosexuality in America through eye-opening historical footage and amazing interviews with those who lived through an often brutal closeted history.

(Image Book, "On Being Different")

June 27, 2019 – Book discussion, “On Being Different” written by³ Merle Miller facilitated by Rachel Seissler, from the FCC Library, 2:00-3:00 p.m. in 2-B516 South Conference Room. Synopsis: Originally published in 1971, “On Being Different” is a pioneering and thought-provoking book about being homosexual in the United States. Just two years after the Stonewall riots, Miller wrote a poignant essay for the New York Times Magazine entitled “What It Means To Be a Homosexual” in response to a homophobic article published in Harper’s Magazine. Described as “the most widely read and discussed essay of the decade,”

TOMORROW

In Observance of LGBTQ Pride Month

join

The Office of Workplace Diversity

To hear profound remarks from

Sheila Alexander-Reid

Director

DC Mayor's Office of LGBTQ Affairs

June 5, 2019 - 11:00 a.m.

Commission Meeting Room

(Image is photograph of Sheila Alexander-Reid)

Sheila is a community activist in the truest sense of the word. Her work to shed light on issues affecting the voiceless among us cuts across every line that could divide us; gender, race, socio-economic status, education level and sexual orientation. She was formerly, the Director of Strategic Engagement at the Washington City Paper, Vice President of Strategic Initiatives at the Washington Blade, founder and former Executive Director of the Women in the Life Association, as well as host of Inside Out, DC's only FM, LGBTQ, radio show which aired Tuesdays on WPFW (89.3 FM).

In addition, Sheila formerly served as the Vice-President of the Gertrude Stein Democratic Club, and represented Stein on the DC Democratic State Committee. Sheila has championed causes for young people, women of color, the LGBT community and survivors of domestic violence.

(Displayed on Image Mayor's Office of LGBTQ Affairs" DC government Logo)

Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender and Questioning (LGBTQ) Pride Month recognizes the contributions that generations of LGBTQ individuals have made to American history, society and culture. The month of June was chosen to commemorate the 1969 Stonewall Inn Riots. In the 1960s, New York City police regularly raided gay bars. Early on the morning of Saturday, 28 June 1969, the police raided the Stonewall Inn, a gay bar in New York City. Upset over their treatment, a riot broke out involving gay and lesbian individuals who were being questioned by the police. Protests over their treatment spread over the course of several nights.

The commemoration of LGBTQ Pride Month began in November of 1969, when Craig Rodwell, his partner Fred Sargeant, Ellen Broidy, and Linda Rhodes proposed the First Pride March, a demonstration to be held annually on the last Saturday in June in New York City. Initially, the last Sunday in June was celebrated as "Gay Pride Day." In major cities across the nation, the "day" soon grew to encompass a month-long series of events involving parades, picnics, parties, workshops, symposia and concerts.

The month has been recognized since 1970, one year after the Stonewall Rebellion commemorating the impact the riots had on society. Still now, people in towns and cities across the Nation come together to show support for LGBTQ rights, culture and communities throughout the month of June.

As well as being a month long celebration, Pride month is also an opportunity to peacefully protest and raise political awareness of current issues facing the LGBTQ+ community. Parades are a prominent feature of Pride month, and there are many street parties, community events, poetry readings, public speaking, street festivals and educational sessions all of which are covered by mainstream media and attracting millions of participants.

The Capital Pride Alliance, located in Washington, DC, is a nonprofit organization dedicated to serving the needs of the LGBTQ community and its partners through educational events, entertainment, community the article was developed into the remarkable short book On Being Different - one of the earliest memoirs to affirm the importance of coming out. If you wish to participate in this book discussion please send an email to [REDACTED] Books will be available at the program on June 5th in the Commission Meeting Room.

Lesbian, Gay, Bisexual, Transgender and Questioning (LGBTQ) Pride Month recognizes the contributions that generations of LGBTQ individuals have made to American history, society and culture. The month of June was chosen to commemorate the 1969 Stonewall Inn Riots. In the 1960s, New York City police regularly raided gay bars. Early on the morning of Saturday, 28 June 1969, the police raided the Stonewall Inn, a gay bar in New York City. Upset over their treatment, a riot broke out involving gay and lesbian individuals who were being questioned by the police. Protests over their treatment spread over the course of several nights.

The commemoration of LGBTQ Pride Month began in November of 1969, when Craig Rodwell, his partner Fred Sargeant, Ellen Broidy, and Linda Rhodes proposed the First Pride March, a demonstration to be held annually on the last Saturday in June in New York City. Initially, the last Sunday in June was celebrated as "Gay Pride Day." In major cities across the nation, the "day" soon grew to encompass a month-long series of events involving parades, picnics, parties, workshops, symposia and concerts.

The month has been recognized since 1970, one year after the Stonewall Rebellion commemorating the impact the riots had on society. Still now, people in towns and cities across the Nation come together to show support for LGBTQ rights, culture and communities throughout the month of June.

As well as being a month long celebration, Pride month is also an opportunity to peacefully protest and raise political awareness of current issues facing the LGBTQ+ community. Parades are a prominent feature of Pride month, and there are many street parties, community events, poetry readings, public speaking, street festivals and educational sessions all of which are covered by mainstream media and attracting millions of participants.

The Capital Pride Alliance, located in Washington, DC, is a nonprofit organization dedicated to serving the needs of the LGBTQ community and its partners through educational events, entertainment, community outreach, and celebrations of diversity throughout the year. Capital Pride Alliance announced its 2019 Pride theme – “shhhOUT Past, Present & Proud.”

Please check out the following link for local activities in recognition of LGBTQ Pride Month: <http://www.capitalpride.org/celebration-2019/>

(Displayed on Image the words Pride 2019)

To join the Office of Workplace Diversity

BOOK DISCUSSION GROUP

June 27, 2019

2:00 PM - 3:00 PM in 2-B516 – South
Conference Room

"On Being Different" written by Merle Miller

Facilitated by Rachel Seissler
FCC Library

Books are still available. If you wish to participate in this book discussion please send an email to Rosalind.Bailey@fcc.gov or call (202) 418-7691.

(Image of Book, "On Being Different")

Originally published in 1971, "On Being Different" is a pioneering and thought-provoking book about being homosexual in the United States. Just two years after the Stonewall riots, Miller wrote a poignant essay for the New York Times Magazine entitled "What It Means To Be a Homosexual" in response to a homophobic article published in Harper's Magazine. Described as "the most widely read and discussed essay of the decade," the article was developed into the remarkable short book On Being Different - one of the earliest memoirs to affirm the importance of coming out.

